Here in lies our story. A story encompassing the days, weeks, and years which comprised our lives at Central High School. During this time, we have learned much about life--the rewards of labor, the joy of friendships, the exhiliration of victory, and the despair of defeat. All of these experiences have contributed to our growth as individuals, ready to meet the challenge of the life ahead of us.

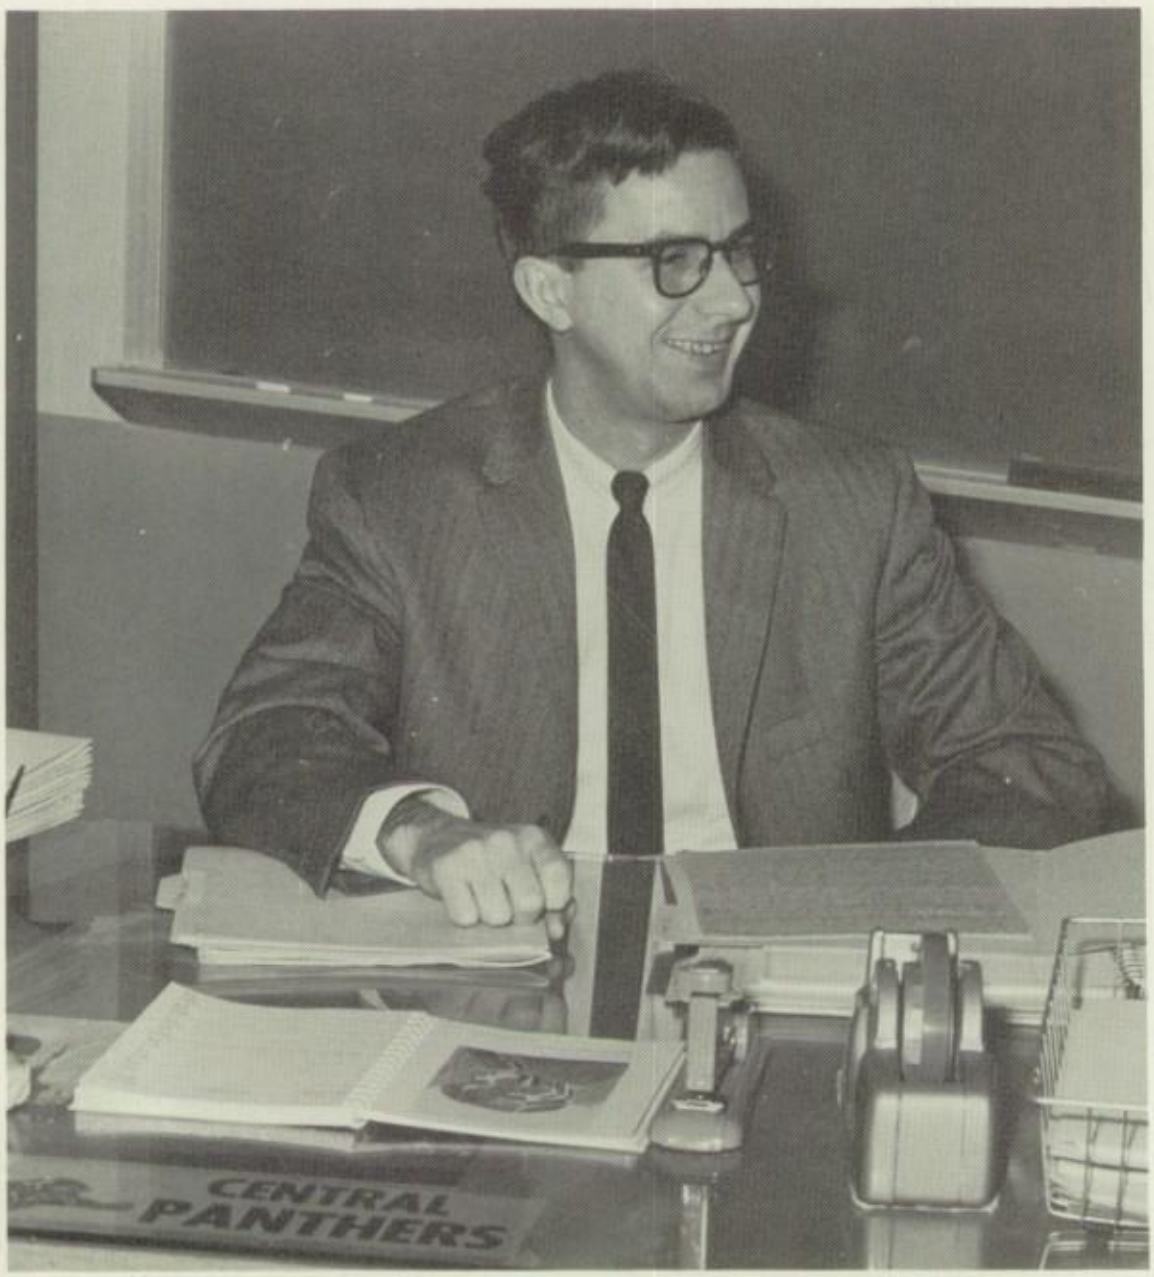
DEDICATION



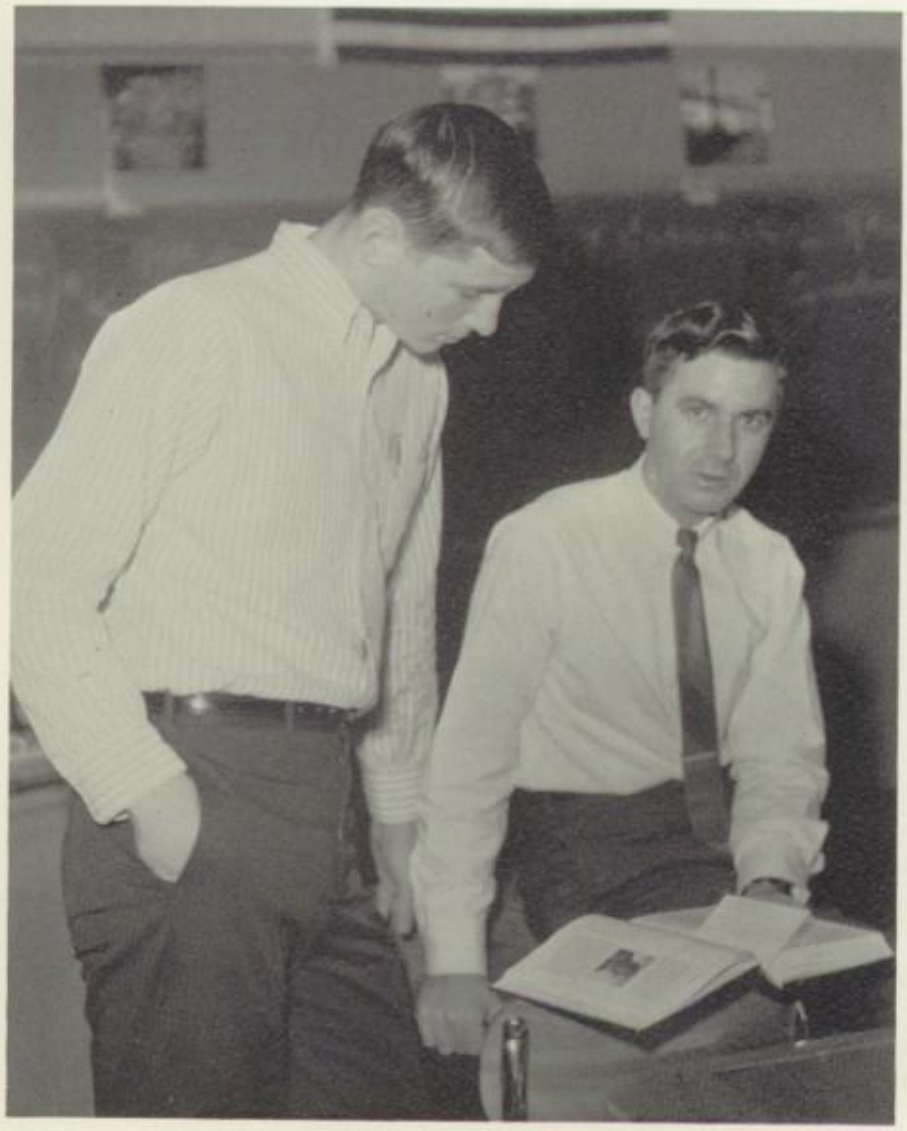
"A teacher affects eternity; he can never tell where his influence stops." - Henry Adams

As we draw the curtains on our years at Central High School, we feel a debt of gratitude and respect for all those who had a hand in guiding our footsteps. The wisdom and knowledge they have imparted onto us will have a resounding effect on the rest of our lives.

Among all the deserving, we have chosen to honor Mr. Gail T. Denison by dedicating this volume to him. Our sincere thanks go to him for his direction of our Junior and Senior Class Plays, supervision of the Dramatics Club, co-ordination of our assembly programs, as well as his guidance, dedication, and inspiration as a teacher.

Long will the impression he has made on us live on.

Me--Cheetah??



Would you believe?

SCHOOL BOARD

I shall detain you no longer in the demonstration of what we should not do, but straight conduct ye to a hillside,
where I will point ye out the right path of a virtuous and noble education;
laborious indeed at the first ascent, but else so smooth, so green, so full of goodly prospect and melodious sounds on every side that the harp of Orpheus was not more charming.

Our education having been directed by these persons, we now depart from Central thankful for their guidance; the helping hand showing us the path toward maturity.

CENTRAL HIGH P. T. A.

The P. T. A. is a program directed toward improving the communication and understanding among the parents, teachers, and the students.

This communication and understanding is continuous and can be seen in such P. T. A. activities as: Open house, Grad's Day and the orientation program for incoming sophomores. This year a project of special interest comes to the P. T. A. which is the evaluation program conducted by principals, teachers, and school administrators from all regions of Pennsylvania.

Through the selling of refreshments at basketball games and plays, the P. T. A. is able to contribute a $100 scholarship to two members of the Senior Class.

It appears that this better understanding is constantly being exercised among students, parents, teachers, and school.

You have"come to learn" and you have. However, not all of you have learned the same poem, equation, formula, concept or date. The learning you have acquired will, in no small way, determine the amount of personal satisfaction you will experience for the rest of your life.

The educational, moral, and spiritual values you have developed in this learning will leave an indelible bench mark upon everyone encountered by you.

Now as you "leave to serve" resolve most resolutely that the indelible bench mark of your life on others will be cherished by all who carry it, and that the service you render will be long and pleasantly remembered by your fellow man.

Richard E. Walters
Principal

To "Come to Learn; Leave to Serve" is among the most noble asperations known to mankind. To base one's ideals and purposes on this premise is truly commendable. Yet, within this framework, there is much freedom for the individual to choose his own manner of learning and serving.

Certainly, none of you upon the eve of graduation, can claim to have learned nothing. Because, as individuals, you have come to learn with different abilities, needs, and interests, the type of knowledge you have acquired reflects your individuality. Some have learned to the best of their abilities and of these it can be said, "they truly came to learn." You will have to decide if this applies to you, for you alone know the effort you have made.

Although, you have "Come to Learn," your learning cannot stop with graduation. Your generation, as no other generation before, will be faced with the reality of either continuing to learn or be left by the wayside. Tomorrow's world will reward those who have not only "Come to Learn," but those who will continue to learn.

Now that you have learned you will have to decide what purpose your learning will serve. There are many "things" to be served. What or whom you are is related to what you have learned. If you've learned to understand and appreciate others, then you will serve accordingly. For those of whom this might apply, it can truly be said, "they leave to serve." Again, you must stand in judgment of the things which you serve.

It is interesting to note that the motto you have chosen has no ending. Whatever your station in life, you can go on learning and serving. Whether your path in life takes you to college, industry, the service, the office, or the home, you'll be known for your learning and the use to which it is put. If you have learned well and served wisely, of you it may be said, "the world is better because you were here." It is within your power to have this judgment passed on you.

May I offer to the Class of 1966, my heartiest congratulations and sincere best wishes as you leave Central High School.

You are to be commended upon reaching your present attainment. It is however, only the beginning of a more inclusive education which will continue throughout life and which will increase your ability to enjoy life, to live more richly, more creatively, and in greater harmony with yourself, your environment, and your fellow man.

You have my best wishes for success in every way.

We believe that the students of Central School District have the basic qualities which will respond to the present need in both excellence and quantity of learning. If the future requires greater competence of the adult, as we believe it will, our faith is firm that today's students have the capacity and the willingness to achieve this added skill and knowledge. Teachers and parents must give them the vision, encouragement, and inspiration for their task, a climate for learning, a goal for personal growth, a personal responsibility for our country, and a respect for education.

When given a chance, students will take responsibilities for study and learning, and, when given opportunity, will reveal what they know and what they don't know. This is basic to good instruction.

Difficult tasks, when they are at the same time meaningful, are seldom shunned by students. The discipline of free men is difficult to attain, but the schools are designed to achieve this end.

We would sooner be a part of a school that trains students to look back and go forward than to look forward and go backward. May you always look back at your school days and keep going forward. Congratulations to you, the class of 1966, upon completing part of your public school career in the Central School District.

May each of you find a place in our way of life so that you may look with satisfaction upon the preparation you received at Central Senior High School.

C. Clinton Ruby
Supervising Principal

As your adopted poem suggests, you have reached that point in your life where roads began to branch in various directions. The choice you make will have a lasting effect on your life. You have been guided thus far by many people, ideas, doctrines, ideals, and experiences. It is the hope of all concerned that these facets of your educational training have served and will continue to serve you as you go forth to serve yourself, family, community, society, and country.

Remember that learning is not a one time thing but rather a continuing process that when nutured, will return many fold the precious fruits of a complete and satisfying life. As you continue to believe, to learn, and to serve, you will find that your life has taken significant meaning and you will know then that all its trials and tribulations have not been endured for naught.

Go then, with heartiest congratulations and best wishes, to follow your dreams and achieve that which you fervently desire.

TRATION

Have you ever reflected on the thesis that a sound education is essential to our nation as well as to your well-being?

Our complex technological society lives and grows by innovoation---scientific innovations which are the products of research and development, social innovations which are the products of dedication to humanitarian ideals, cultural innovations which are the products of creative and aesthetic talent. Any way you look at it, education is an essential public investment in economic growth and national security. It is intimately related to full employment, to the standard of living, to human understanding, to civic and social responsibility, to international trade, to foreign policy. It is the instrument of society best adapted to develop our greatest resource--the intelligence of our citizens, the brainpower which enables us to discover and unlock the benefits of natural resources, to find new potentialities, to find pathways to the unknown and a better future.

The preceding thoughts may be confusing when related to a single individual, but not impossible when each of us develops to our fullest potentiality.

Congratulations to you the graduating class of 1966 on your initial accomplishment.

William N. Craley
Administrative Assistant

Burton R. Shellhammer
Home & School Visitor

Congratulations on the decision that led you to complete high school. This was a major step to provide your mind with the intelligence it needs to properly govern your body. The principles and ideals developed in your life span must be rigid enough to support your journey's decisions, but flexible enough to assimilate new concepts, as they are proven by an emerging culture. These beliefs must become the ballast of living as you move forward, making a choice at each crossroad, providing the basis of your belief in the reality of life, with no time to pine over what might have been. Then you find the maturity which is suddenly expected and required of graduates to establish a place for yourself in contemporary society.

Charles D. Rabuck
Elementary Supervisor

I was interested in your choice of both your class song, "I Believe", and the class poem, "The Road Not Taken". Both of these titles have worthwhile implications for your future.

A person who has established a set of values, in which he believes, has made good progress in his education. These values tend to provide a guideline as you proceed to achieve your goals in life.

I hope that you are able to establish a sound set of values which you will reevaluate periodically as you attain each of your goals and progress to the next. If your values and goals are sound, you should be pleased with the road that you have chosen.

STUDENT TEACHERS

This year at Central we saw four new faces in the halls and classrooms. These were our student teachers, who came to us from different area colleges to put into practice their classroom methods.

Miss Janet Erny was from Millersville State Teachers College and served under Mr. Doll. Her college major was math, and her minor was Spanish. Her activities included the Women's Chorus, Math Club, and the Lutheran Student Association. She graduated in January of 1966, and planned to teach math in the vicinity of Lehigh University.

Miss Barbara Gouker worked under the hand of Mr. Kralowetz teaching Problems of Democracy and American History. She attended Millersville State College and will be graduated in May of 1966. Miss Gouker is majoring in Social Studies and upon graduation plans to teach Problems of Democracy in New York City. During her four years at Millersville, she had been active in the Social Studies Club, Lutheran Student Association, Women's Chorus, and Yearbook Staff.

Miss Mary-Beth Morris, having attended Shippensburg State College, worked with Mr. Stauffer this year. Miss Morris was graduated in November of 1965, and planned to teach literature and speech in New York State. Her major is English and her minor is speech. While in college, she participated in Tuaesitum, Political Club, Swimming Club, Dormitory Board, and was a Junior Class Officer.

Miss Betty Morrow, also from Millersville College, was Mr. Beckmeyer's student teacher. Her major in college was social studies and her minor was history. Her activities included intramural sports, Intramural Club, Economics Club, and Social Studies Club. She will graduate in May of 1966, and plans to teach history (World Culture) in the suburbs of Philadelphia.

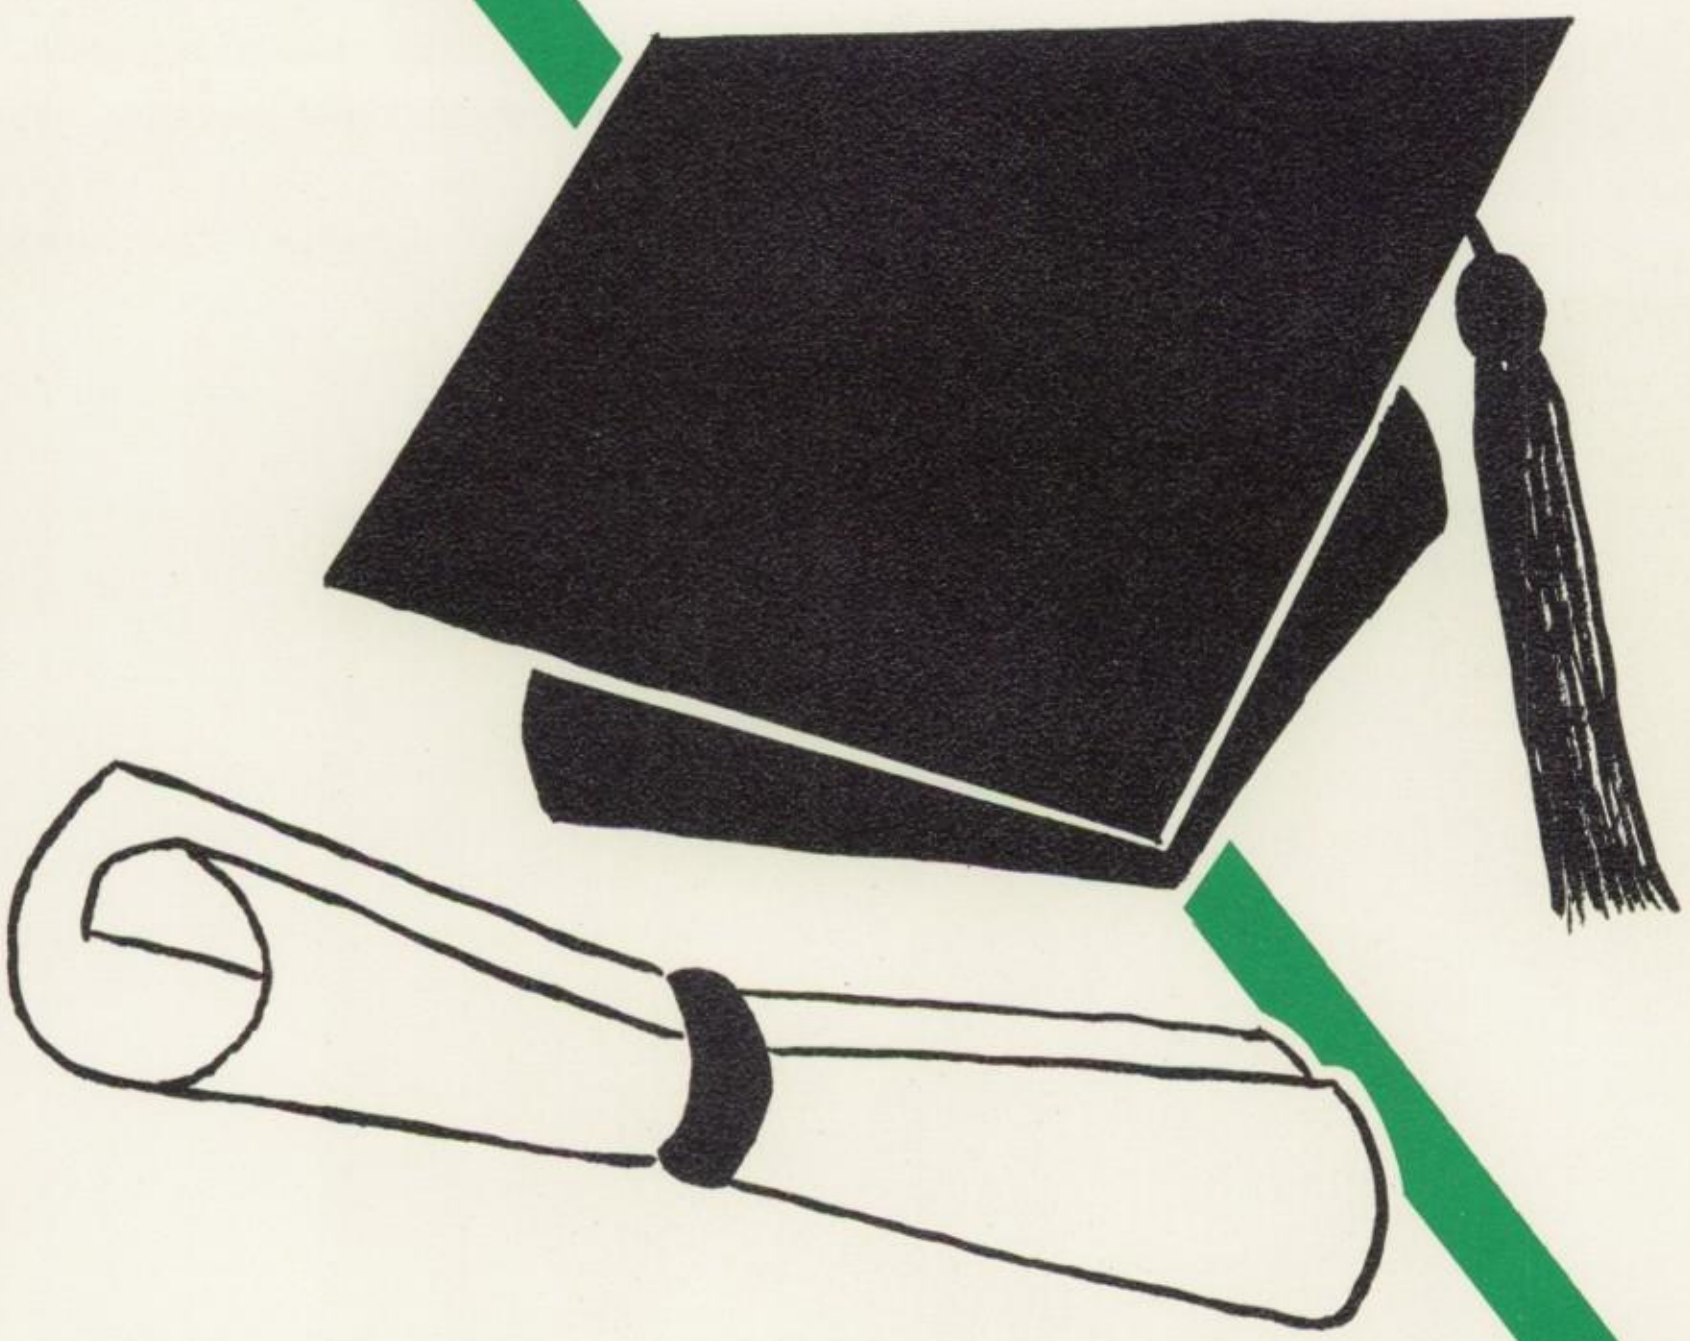
Seniors



B.D.

What is a Senior? The dictionary defines a Senior as a student in the fourth or final year of the curriculum of an American educational institution. But, this definition provides only a shell when creating a true picture of a Senior.

What is a Senior? He is a diligent class member trying to work on the class float and write a term paper at the same time, a student of the month, a capable Student Council member, a speedy typist. A Senior is a D.A.R. essay winner, a sports enthusiast, a vivacious spectator cheering his team to victory, a band member or high-stepping majorette adding rhythm and color to the half-time performance. A Senior is a beautiful Homecoming Queen, a peppy cheerleader, a cadet teacher for F.T.A., a machinest, a fine actor, set designer, prompter, director, a member of the Editorial or Business Staff.

The Class of 1966 proudly presents its graduating Seniors, not just a group of students in their fourth year of high school, but each one an individual who is about to face the trials and tribulations of a modern world.

Come to Learn, Leave to Serve

THE ROAD NOT TAKEN

Two roads diverged in a yellow wood,
And sorry I could not travel both
And be one traveler, long I stood
And looked down one as far as I could
To where it bent in the undergrowth;

Then took the other, as just as fair,
And having perhaps the better claim,
Because it was grassy and wanted wear;
Though as for that the passing there
Had worn them really about the same,

And both that morning equally lay
In leaves no step had trodden black.
Oh, I kept the first for another day.
Yet knowing how way leads on to way,
I doubted if I should ever come back.

I shall be telling this with a sigh
Somewhere ages and ages hence;
Two roads diverged in a wood, and I-
I took the one less traveled by,
And that has made all the difference.

ROBERT FROST

I BELIEVE

I believe for every drop of rain that falls, a flower grows. I believe that somewhere in the darkest night, a candle glows. I believe for everyone who goes astray someone will come to show the way. I believe above the storm the smallest pray'r will still be heard. I believe that someone in the great somewhere hears every word. Everytime I hear a new born baby cry, or touch a leaf, or see the sky, Then I know why I BELIEVE!

A winning float for the Class of '66'.

The first Hootenanny ever at Central.

Class of '66 Sophomore History

The class of 1966 commenced its sophomore year with eager anticipation and joy, which heightened upon the winning of the Homecoming float, the theme of which was "Don't Look Now, But You're in Hot Water".

Class colors, British racing green and white, a motto, "Come to learn; leave to serve", and a class flower, a white carnation tipped in green, were chosen while the sophomores began ordering the long awaited class rings, jackets, and sweaters.

The sophomore class project, a hootenanny, was enjoyed by an appreciative audience, thanks largely to the devoted efforts of the class.

The sophomore year was declared a success by all, and the ensuing years at Central High School were eagerly awaited by the class of 1966.

HOOTENANNY

The music began and the voices echoed as the sophomore class of Central High School presented a current trend--a Hootenanny.

Since this was our first senior high school project much preparation was necessary. The big night--February 1, 1964; Time--8:00 P.M.; Place--Central High School Auditorium; Master of Ceremonies--Mr. Paul Krsek.

Highlighting our program were such celebrated guests as Bob and John, The New Providence Singers, The Countrymen Five, and Mel and Diane Curley.

Because Bob and John set the moving pace, the audience could hardly restrain themselves from joining in. As the syncopated strums of the guitar continued, more and more enthusiasts participated until everyone was truly captivated as the groups presented numerous versions of "When the Saints Go Marching In."

And thus ended just one successful venture which warned the present and future classes of Central High School that the Class of '66 was going to be successful and great.

Performers get together after the show.

We not only whaled Kennard-Dale, but we came out tops in the float division.

Our history classes made a memorable trip to Gettysburg.

OUR JUNIOR HISTORY

With the graduation of the Class of 1964, the largest class in the history of Central eagerly anticipated their junior year. We were becoming familiar with senior high school life and were anxious to prove that we could fill the shoes of those who had come before.

The first challenge we encountered as juniors was designing a float for the Homecoming Parade which would maintain the winning tradition of our class. Much dedication, cooperation, and hard work was rewarded when our eye-catching float "Let's Whale Kennard-Dale" captured the trophy for a third victorious year.

December found us embarking upon our first big undertaking, the play "Inherit the Wind". Our uniquely large cast, record-setting attendance, and unmatched profits boast the success of the play.

In the spring we journeyed to historic Gettysburg where we trod o'er the century-old battlefield and relived many classic moments of the Civil War.

Before long we found a most successful and memorable junior year had drawn to a close. In the fall we would be the leaders, the stars.

YOU are violating the sacred beliefs of the people of this state.

"INHERIT THE WIND"

Which is hungrier--my body or my soul?

Attendance records were broken, cast numbers swelled beyond expectation as the junior class presented one of Central's finest plays, "Inherit The Wind." Under the capable direction of Mr. Gail T. Dennison and Mr. K. Bruce Sherbine the play unfolded on the evenings of March 25 and 27, 1965.

The Hillsboro Monkey Trial enacted in "Inherit The Wind" was based on the famous Scopes trial of 1925. It was difficult for one to imagine as the curtain opened that the placid but sweltering square of Hillsboro could turn into an arena in which the gladiators of religion and of science clashed head on to prove the origin of man--whether Darwin or the Bible was right. Throughout the play Henry Drummond, the celebrated agnostic, and Matthew Harrison Brady, a fundamentalist, argued the validity of a state law which forbade the teaching of ideas contrary to a literal interpretation of the Bible. As the case continued Drummond, representing Bert Cates, the school teacher accused of teaching Darwinism in the classroom, contended the trial was one for the individual's right to question and to think for himself without fear of persecution. Drummond finally demonstrated that the biased people who refuse to examine that which they so fervently hate often fail to realize that two seemingly different views are not irreconcilable. The outcome of the trial has universal meaning which lives even today--that each individual may search for the truth.

The "Diary of Anne Frank".

The Class of '66' wins again.

CLASS OF '66 SENIOR HISTORY

As the student body reassembled for the fall term, the class of 1966 realized that this was their last year in high school. With this thought in mind we proceeded to work on our Homecoming float. The theme was "As the Central Panthers Turn the Grind, the West York Bulldogs Fall Behind." Even though competition was greater than previous years, it was no surprise that the senior class won the first prize for the third consecutive year.

With the same enthusiasm as in the past year, the number of interested seniors who tried out for the class play, "Diary of Anne Frank," more than doubled the parts which were available. Again there were two casts to enable a sufficient proportion of those interested seniors parts.

Throughout the year we worked diligently, creating memories of this, our final year at Central.

THE DIARY OF ANNE FRANK

On the evenings of October 27 and 28, 1965, the Senior Class of Central presented the two-act drama, "The Diary of Anne Frank."

The play centers around the trials and tribulations of two Jewish families who in 1942 took refuge in an attic in Amsterdam to escape Nazi persecution. The two families, the Van Daans and the Franks, were later joined in hiding by a dentist to form a not always so compatible group of eight.

Early in their stay, Anne's father presented her with a diary. Having no contacts in the outside world with her childhood friends, Anne thought of her diary as a letter to a friend. In addition to the general events in the attic, Anne recorded her own feelings and hopes for the future. The attic was discovered by the Nazis after nearly two years and Anne, along with the others, was taken to a concentration camp. After the war the diary was discovered by friends, and later the play was adapted from the diary.

As the play has a small cast and the seniors showed such great interest in the production, the directors Mr. Denison and Mrs. Lehr chose a double cast. The play was well received by everyone and the two casts did an excellent job of presenting one of the more difficult plays.

"But Tom has the most beautiful whiskers!"

Mrs. Frank comforts Ann.

MEMORIAM

MY LOST YOUTH

There are things of which I may not speak;
  There are dreams that cannot die;
There are thoughts that make the strong heart weak,
And bring a pallor into the cheek,
  And a mist before the eye.
    And the words of that fatal song
    Come over me like a chill:
    "A boy's will is the wind's will,
And the thoughts of youth are long, long thoughts."

And Derring's Woods are fresh and fair,
  And with joy that is almost pain
My heart goes back to wander there,
And among the dreams of the days that were,
  I find my lost youth again.
    And the strange and beautiful song,
    The groves are repeating it still:
    "A boy's will is the wind's will,
And the thoughts of youth are long, long thoughts."

--Henry Wadsworth Longfellow

AWARDS

BAUSCH AND LOMB

Each year the emphasis upon science increases and the demand for top scientists becomes greater. James McCarthy, as the recepient of this year's Bausch and Lomb award for outstanding achievement in science, is the contribution of the senior class to the world of science. He was selected on the basis of high academic achievement in his advanced science courses and great interest in science both as a subject and as a career.

BETTY CROCKER

Each year the girls in the senior class are required to take the Betty Crocker Homemaking Test. This test not only covers cooking terms and procedures, but also acquaintance of every type of home activity is required. Thus Deborah Shelley has proven by winning this year's test that she possesses many skills important to family life and the common sense involved in raising and supporting a family.

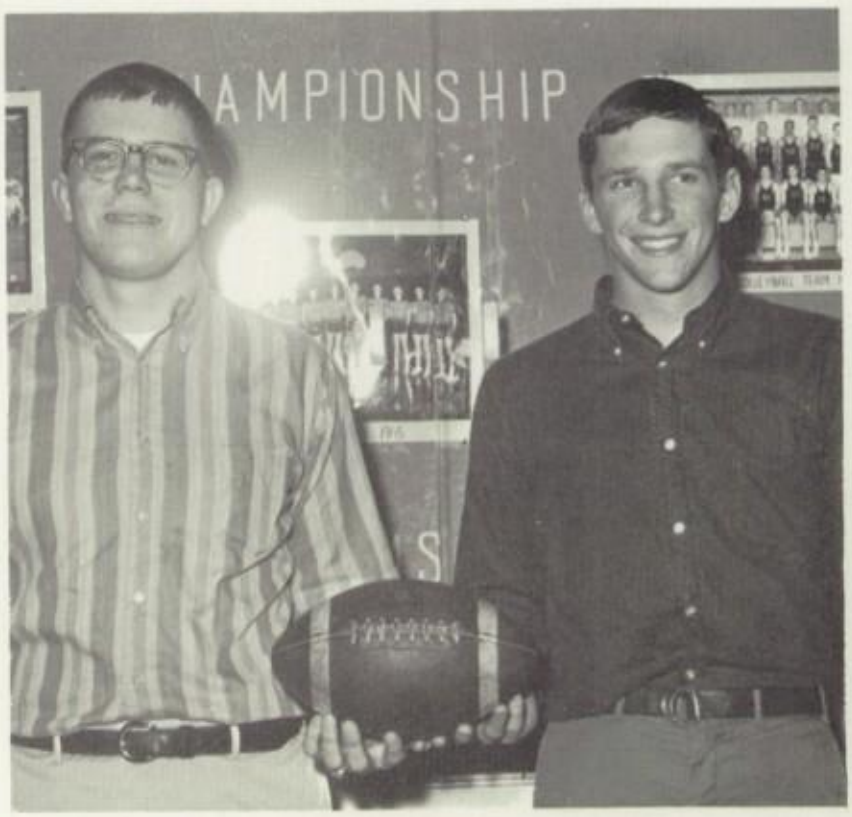
GOOD CITIZENSHIP

Each year from the senior class one member is chosen as the DAR Good Citizen. This year Linda Metzel has been chosen as Central's Good Citizen. She has been active in many phases of Central's activities and has been displaying the virtue of leadership sought by many, yet possessed by few.

AWARDS

SENIORS OF THE MONTH

Several outstanding seniors are chosen each month by Springettsbury, North York, and Manchester Lions Club as "Seniors of the Month" for their recognition for their excellent scholarship and fine character. These people did much to exemplify the aptitude and refinement of the student body of Central and are to be congratulated for their fine representation.



YORK COUNTY ALL-STARS

Central completed its 1965 gridiron campaign with its finest record--9-1-1. Much of the team's success belongs to the fine team work displayed by all, but special recognition is due to Duke Cramer and Brad Livingston for being selected to the York County All Star Team as a tribute to their athletic ability and excellent sportsmanship.

CONGRATULATIONS TO THE CLASS
OF 1965, JOANNE RAUHOUSER, EDITOR
AND MR. FAUTH, FACULTY ADVISOR.

YEARBOOK AWARD

Congratulations are due to the Class of 1965, Joanne Rauhouser, editor, and Mr. Fauth, faculty advisor, for producing the 1965 PANTHER which won the Keystone Award of the Pennsylvania School Press Association. This is the highest award that any yearbook can win. It scored 975 points out of a possible 1000 points.

SPECIAL RECOGNITION

ROTARY CLUB

During this past year the Rotary Club of York sponsored luncheon meetings and invited students from various schools to speak at their meeting. On the basis of leadership, character, and scholarship Galen Kauffman, Robert Davis, William Stapelkamp, Daniel Idema, Adam Barnhart, and Scott Eyster were selected to represent Central at the various luncheons held.

SENIOR ABROAD

This summer Otis Morse will be attending the World Youth Conference from June 28 through July 7 at the Royal Norwegian Naval Base, Slavanger, Norway. He will be one of the one thousand delegates from all the continents of the globe. Our class feels that he will present a favorable image of the American way of life to all those he should meet.

DISTRICT BAND

Each year several of the musicians from Central are auditioned for positions in the District Band and many are selected to play in it. It is an honor to play in this band, for it is an indication of the musical ability and talent possessed by members of the band. This year the District Band was under the direction of Mr. Mitch Miller.

THESPIAN SOCIETY TROUPE 1649

The Central High School chapter of the National Thespian Society is composed of those outstanding Dramatists who have accumulated a minimum of one hundred points. These points are earned by participation in plays, committees, and other related activities.

Each May, qualified members of the Dramatics Club are inducted into the Society. From here, members endeavor to earn stars by accumulating additional hundred points.

Dramatics Club

The primary goal of the Dramatics Club is to acquaint its members with all phases of dramatics. Make-up techniques, speech, and acting fundamentals are taught.

It is the largest and one of the most active clubs in our school. Its major yearly project is the production of a two-act play. This year "Mrs. McThing" was presented in December. A one-act play is also presented at a local high school sometime during the year.

Under the direction of Mrs. Lehr, Mrs. Wallick, Mr. Harteis, Mr. Denison, Mr. Moul, and Mr. Millard, it provides many memorable moments for the members and the student body.

MRS. McTHING

Once upon a time there was a little boy named Howay Larue. Howay is the victim of an overly-protective mother. Mrs. Larue fears her son will develop nasty habits from the outside world, so she builds a fence around her estate to protect him even more. A witch and her daughter, Mimi, lived near the estate. Mimi and Howay play together and when Mrs. Larue discovers this, she immediately admonishes Mimi's mother, the witch. The witch, of course, resents this, so by her magical spirits she makes an automated Howay, and sends the real Howay away to a pool hall where his is having a ball getting in with the wrong crowd, according to his mother's standards. After some time Howay becomes homesick and calls his mother to ask if he can come home. He does come home, and with him he brings all his pool hall friends. Then a very noticeable change takes place in Mrs. Larue. She allows Howay to associate with Mimi, and everyone lives happily ever after.

Mrs. McThing was this year's major production of the Dramatics Club. The comedy was presented on the nights of Thursday, December 2, and Saturday, December 4, 1965. The play was directed by Mr. Robert Harteis, who was assisted by Mr. Gail Denison and Mrs. Clytie Lehr. Mrs. McThing was well received by all, as everyone who attended went away in a merrier way.

Now in its fourth year at Central High School, the National Honor Society has served as a major stimulus for the achievement of academic excellence among the student body.

Fifteen percent of the Senior Class and ten percent of the Junior Class are inducted in the initiation ceremony held every February. Honor Society members enjoy unsupervised studies and are permitted an unlimited number of visits to the library. Formal meetings, which are open to the public, are held periodically.

With the honor and privileges of membership in the Society comes the sober responsibility of maintaining high academic standards, as every member struggles valiantly to maintain a satisfactory average and retain his insecure status as a member of the National Honor Society.

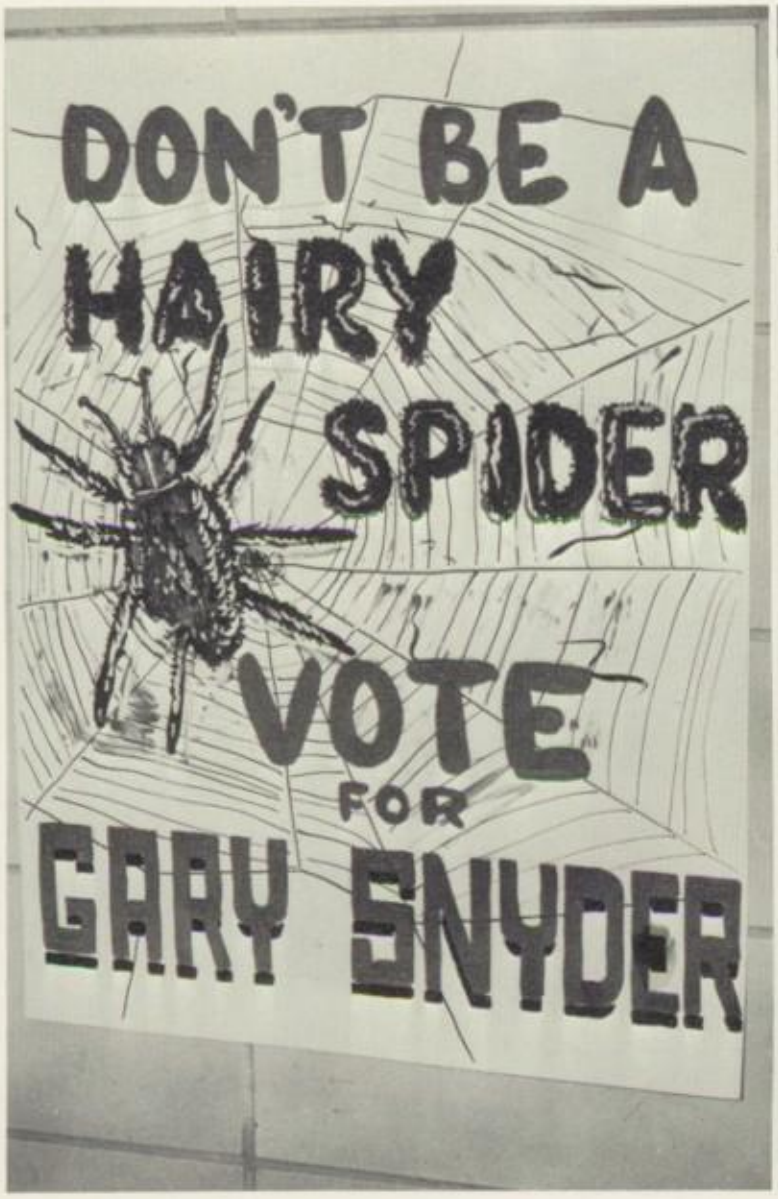
Beckmyer bags bundles!

A Student Council meeting in progress.



As in previous years, the Student Council exists as the main functioning body to serve each and every member of the school. It thinks in terms of all, not in terms of just those students in the Council. Making many important decisions, it works on the majority of the projects offered to the student body in that particular year and in years to follow.

The Council started its year with the welcoming assembly and by making homecoming a success; the assembly, parade, game, and dance were all made possible partly by Student Council. The Council also contributes to other various projects: bundle days, school store, and foreign exchange.

Student Council serves as a representative body to the school. If each and every student purposely supports this body, the traditional idea of a Student Council will remain as a strong force to be carried out each year, contributing to the good of the school.

THE PROWLER

Printing the Prowler requires much more dedication and diligent work than most students realize. They are not aware of the hours of planning, the labor, the expense, and difficulties involved in publishing an up-to-date, factual, and interesting newspaper every month.

Work begins several weeks prior to the publication date, when the editors meet to plan the coming issue. Assignments are given, and a deadline is set for the articles to be turned in. The page editors proofread all articles of the staff for content, punctuation, and the mechanics of good writing, returning any unsatisfactory articles to be rewritten. The typists then receive the proofread articles; each must be counted in thirty-two space lines and typed without error. The editors spend the majority of the week-end before publication laying-out the paper. With eye-appeal and reading ease in mind, they must plan the pages so that every column inch is filled. Pasting is the most frustrating phase--there can be no smears or wrinkles, and alignments must be exact. Finally headlines must be laid on, also precisely aligned.

The lay-out sheets now travel to the printer who photographs and reduces them; pictures must be cropped and, either reduced or blown up. Finally, he prints and folds the paper so that it is then ready for distribution.

The lay-out is really the hardest part of publication.

Successful subscription, mail-order, and patron campaigns, as well as the sale of advertisements have allowed us to have the paper printed outside the school for the second year. The letter press, a much more expensive process which eliminates photographing and allows the printer to use ordinary type-set and produces much more distinct and uniform lettering, was initiated for a few issues.

A Business Manager and staff, who handles our financial affairs and circualtion, were a welcome and helpful addition to our staff. A "Careers" column, featuring a different profession in each issue, and personal interviews with interesting, prominent individuals in our community were begun.

The sixty persons on the Prowler staff attempted to publish the latest in news with the utmost in enjoyment. Only teamwork, genuine interest, and great patience made this possible.

HOMECOMING 1965

Akio greets North York's spectators with a friendly grin.

THE game.

The anxiety and tension increased as the seven girls and their escorts slowly marched down the aisles to "Pomp and Circumstance" and mounted the beautifully decorated stage. The Master of Ceremonies, Paul Krsek, announced the court one by one, and the tension increased until only one girl remained standing--Miss Linda Smith, the 1965 Homecoming Queen. The Queen and her court reigned over the weekend's festivities, November 5th and 6th.

On Saturday the activities commenced with the annual parade through North York, which was composed of many floats, bands, and the court. This was followed by the football game with the West York Bulldogs. The impressive victory of 42-6 set the perfect atmosphere for the dance, the climactic finale of the weekend.

The Sunlight Serenaders provided romantic music for Harvest Moon and the procession of the Queen and her court followed by the Queen's dance was the highlight of the evening. Once again Homecoming was over, but it will always linger in the hearts of those who participated, for "Now...there is nothing left but memory".

Royalty leads off.

Those final steps....

What is there to remember of the past three years at Central High School? Classes, exams, and teachers first come to mind. But have we forgotten the plays, the football games, Homecoming, the early-morning meetings, the basketball games, the school spirit?

We often associate graduation with the leaving of school. The leaving only occurs bodily. In spirit we still live at Central. We cheer its accomplishments and understand its faults. How can we break our ties with something, someone who has guided us throughout our adolescent lives?

We keep in stride with the music on our graduation day, but our minds wander. What will we be doing next year at this time? In five years? In ten? Will we be working, continuing our education, or will we be married?

We receive our diplomas, we place our tassels on the other side of our caps, we reverse our rings, and we shed a few tears for the years past and the years to come. What it holds in store for us is unknown, but we realize that with the background we have been given here, all our future endeavors will surely be accomplished.

The moment for which we've been waiting.

Area Vocational Technical

High School

The Area Vocational Technical High School is a new inovation in education providing interested students with a background for industrial employment.

Although there is no structure available at the present time the Jefferson building and York High are used with the hope of obtaining a permanent school sometime in the future.

A. V. T. H. S. provides courses in medical assistance, which teaches one how to perform the necessary tasks needed to assist someone in the medical profession.

Distributive education, another course offered by A. V. T.H. S. provides a pupil with actual job experience while working at his normal course of school study.

Commercial art teaches artistically talented youths the correct way to create compositions so that he may be able to work as an advertising illustrator.

Electronics offers interested students an opportunity to learn about and to operate different electrical equipment vital to their choice of employment after graduation.

The machine shop teaches mechanically inclined young men how to use machines that they will encounter in their future jobs.

Any school in the county may send students of high school age at no cost. In the future it is hoped that A. V. T. H. S. will have its own graduation, yearbook, and sports events.

The A. V. T. H. S. is providing York County with a class of young men and women who will be trained in such a way as to make this community a better place in which to live.

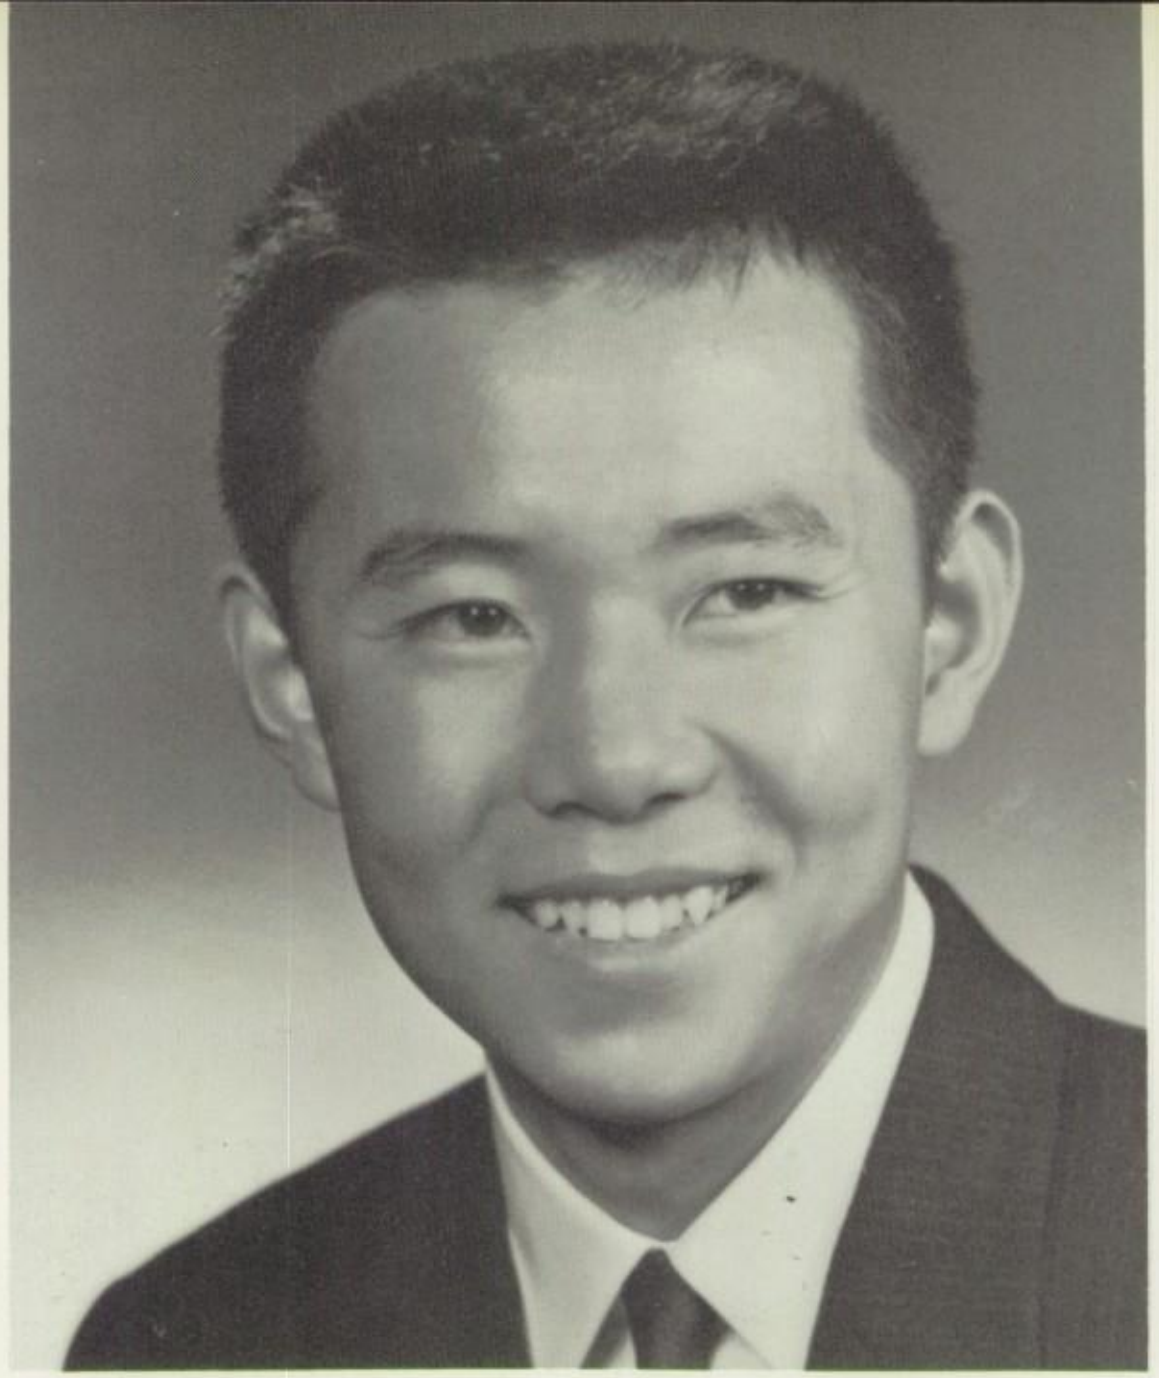
AKIO TANAKA



My stay at York, Pennsylvania, has been the most exciting and wonderful experience of my life. I will never forget it.

I've really enjoyed the many school activities that Central offers. Besides these activities, I have been especially glad to study as one of Central's school-spirited students. While watching the football games, working on the Homecoming float, and singing the "Alma Mater", I sometimes forgot that I was actually a Japanese student. Never shall I forget my second high school, Central.

Finally, I would like to extend my appreciation to A.F.S., without which I could not have spent such a tremendous time here, and to my American family for the inspiring year I've had.

Best of wishes in the future of C.H.S.!

FRANCE was the land of hopes and dreams ever since I began the study of the country's language. During the summer of 1965, I was given the wonderful opportunity to spend six unforgettable weeks in Europe through the Lions International Exchange Program.

For most of my stay in France, I lived with various families in the little town of Parthenay. The customs and ideas of living were so different from mine that I felt as though I was in another world. By living with many families, I was given the opportunity to understand the various types of people, both rich and poor, and their way of living. The Broussals, the first family I stayed with, took me to their summer home in Royan, a modern sea resort completely rebuilt after its destruction in World War II.

With its old fishing boats and quaint buildings, Les Sables D'Olanne, another town along the coast, was typically French. I was fortunate to have seen the famous castles of the Loire River with their ancient history and beauty. These historical landmarks gave me a better understanding of the early background of France with all its glory and people of nobility.

I fell in love with the quaint countryside, the French cuisine, the customs, the medieval French towns, with narrow streets and charming buildings, and, most of all, Paris the heart of Europe. From the moment I saw Paris, I knew that it was the most beautiful city I had ever seen. The famous Notre Dame, Eiffel Tower, Arc of Triomphe, Seine River, and the Champs-Elysees by night are only a few of the unforgettable sights.

Although I shall always remember my experiences of this past summer, I feel that the people, with their warmth and sincerity who gave me a true picture of European life are the most unforgettable of all.

For the rest of my life I shall cherish the wonderful memories of my trip to Europe.

My host family.

"Bonjour" from FRANCE! This year I was very fortunate to have spent eight glorious weeks in Lure and Luxeuil-les-Bains, France as a Lions International Youth Exchange Student.

The whirling vacation began when I boarded an Air France Boeing 707 jet airliner that took me to Paris, France. From Paris I went by French rail to eastern France where I was met by my host family. In the following weeks I learned the French customs and traditions from the four warm-hearted and hospitable families that I lived with. I also had the opportunity to visit the world renown capital of France, Paris. The city is very breath-taking and beautiful from its Medieval history.

I shall always cherish my memories of France and the gracious people of the country as my home away from home.

FRANCE, home of ancient, haunting castles, majestic, towering mountain ranges, shimmering, white beaches, and the Eiffel Tower, become by foster home during the summer months preceding my Senior year. I was swept into the world of "Bonjour", "Comment allez-vous?", "Au revoir", Charles DeGaulle, bikinis, delicious pastry, small cars, wonderful, kind-hearted people, and the art of picture taking as I emerged from the Pan American Jet onto the foreign soil of France.

I was fascinated and deeply moved by the oldness of this historic nation, for I visited crumbling cathedrals and castles constructed during the 12th century. Also, I resided in homes and towns that have been standing for centuries.

Perhaps the most important factor of my trip was the fact that I, as an American citizen, was representing the United States as an ambassador of good will to "paint" a picture of the American way of life and our system of democracy for these foreign neighbors who are not aware of our heritage.

I would like to extend my deepest gratitude and hearty thanks to the Springettsbury Lions Club who sponsored by trip and all those affiliated with Lions International for making this trip to France possible for me. It has provided me with many cherishable memories and a better understanding of the French and their way of life.

A home away from home, to me this was LUXEMBOURG. To find myself in this small country was like a dream come true. While in Luxembourg, I spent two weeks with Mr. and Mrs.. Nicolas Bormann and their daughter Nicole and three weeks with the Will Wagener family.

Trips were arranged for me by my host families to Belgium and Germany. I also visited many small villages in Luxembourg famous for their historical vestiges, their bridges and their churches.

Words cannot express the beauty and friendliness of this small country. What she lacks in size, she makes up in graciousness to those who are lucky enough to visit there.

I met many wonderful people whom I shall never forget, and I will always cherish the memories of my summer abroad.

FRANCE is, in my opinion, one of the most beautiful countries in the world. I was given the opportunity to live in France for two months through the program of Lions International during the summer of 1965. I stayed with six different families.

I found France to be an absolutely fascinating country with its beautiful, well kept gardens, historical places, and flowing language. It is said that traveling through France is like traveling through history, and I found this to be quite true. One cannot walk down the street without seeing some famous building or monument.

I visited Spain where I saw my first bullfight, which I found quite impressive but hardly my favorite type of entertainment.

For many weeks I lived near the Atlantic Ocean where I enjoyed swimming on the hot summer days. I visited Paris for a few days before leaving for home, and I walked along the Champs Elysees, one of the largest avenues of the world, and saw the famous Eiffel Tower.

My trip to France was really a dream come true.

The wonderful people are my fondest memory of LUXEMBOURG. Living in a small, quaint village of the Grand Duchee of Luxembourg for six weeks in the summer of 1965 was the magical realization of my fondest dream. Every day was a rich and rewarding experience--new sights, more acquaintances, new thrills, more knowledge and understanding.

Here I lived with two warm, wonderful families who taught me much of the European way of life--the food, dress, customs, and, above all, the beliefs and ideas. Each day I became a little less American as I abandoned some of my customs, ideas, and beliefs and adopted those of another people.

I fell in love with this picturesque land, with tree-clad mountains and the miniature villages nestled at their foot. The ruins of medieval castles and fortresses lend an air of romance and majesty, reminiscent of the era of kings, historical heritage of Europe.

During my brief stay, my host endeavored to show me as much of Europe as I could wish to see--I visited Belgium, Germany, and France. The last three days of my adventure found me amidst the wonders of glorious Paris.

My visit to Luxembourg is undoubtedly the most valuable and most treasured experience of my life. I shall never forget the spots I visited, the sights I saw, but my most cherished memory is the warm, wonderful people who have captured my heart.

NORWAY, "the land of the Midnight Sun", with its majestic fjords and snow capped mountain peaks has become my adopted country. Deep in picturesque mountains and on the rocky southern coast were my summer homes. For one month I was a member of the Dr. Finn Kjolmoen family in Levanger, which is located in the central highlands. My final weeks were spent near sun and sea in Kristiansand, the summer resort of Scandinavia.

Along with a new language came new customs, scenery, and most of all, new foods. Whale, squid, reindeer, and an assortment of fish became a part of the unique cuisine for me. In every home I was treated as royalty. It is difficult to understand how the Norwegians opened their hearts to a young American as I.

My visit in Europe provided the most educational experience for an American youth. I gained a better understanding to life across the sea. Yet more important, it took 3,500 miles of sea to open my eyes to the magnificence of my country, the United States of America.

I spent my summer in a nation of many cultures—SWITZERLAND. To many of you Switzerland means nothing more than the country which houses the grandeur of the Alps. This is all it meant to me until having the opportunity to spend nine wonderful weeks there this past summer. Now it means a great deal more.

I spent the majority of my stay with my family, the Scheittin's, in Worb, a small village outside of Bern, the capital of Switzerland. However, I was fortunate in that I was able to see a major portion of Switzerland--twenty-three out of its twenty-six cantons. I traveled to the sunny south of Switzerland in the Tecin, to the snowy peaks of the Bernese Alps, to the French speaking canton of Neuchatel, as well as to many other points of interest.

But the thing I loved most about Switzerland was the people. They are a combination of so many different cultures, yet they are unique unto themselves. When I think of Switzerland, it will be first of the warm wonderful people that live there.

FRANCE is no longer simply a name on a map to me, but a wonderful country filled with warm, friendly people, beautiful countrysides, quaint old villages, delicious cuisine, the most exciting city in the world--Paris, and cherished memories.

During the summer of 1965 the opportunity of visiting France and living with a French family was given to me through the Lions International Youth Exchange Program.

My hosts were Monsieur and Madame Guy Farrando, who allowed me to be one of their family. Their home was in a small village south of Paris. There I became acquainted with their quiet type of life. However, half of my time was spent in their apartment in Paris, and so I came to love this "city of many moods." I visited all of the tourist attractions, as well as those any Parisian would go to during his daily routine. Joining in the Bastille Day celebrations in Paris was one of the highlights of my trip. My family took me to their vacation home in Biarritz, which is on the Rivierra, and from there we visited Spain. I got to see southern France and the beautiful countryside with the many large castles.

I found the people to be very tolerant of my halting French, and they seemed pleased that I was trying things their way. Graciousness and the joy of living are two terms that I will always think of when I recall my wonderful dream come true.

They say that once you've been to Paris you will always return--I will certainly try.

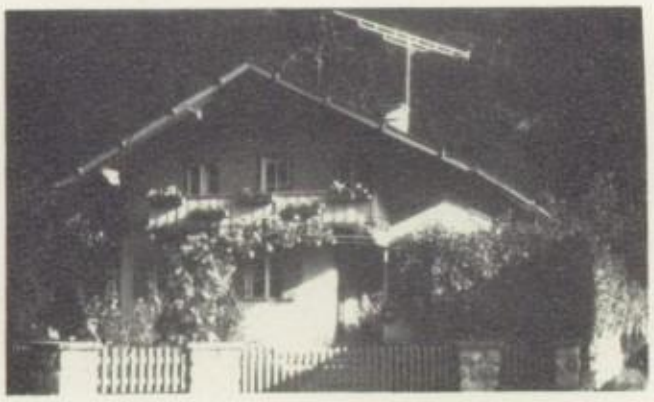
A typical view of the Tyrolian Alps.

The highlight of my summer was a tour of AUSTRIA, where I took advantage of the opportunity to visit and learn about the country and its people. A small village high in the Tirolian Alps became my summer home. Silz, where my family lived, was less than twenty-five miles from Innsbruck. My first glimpse of the country was the beautiful countryside that I saw as I stepped off the plane. My first few days were filled with excitement during which I made many acquaintances and toured the nearby picturesque landmarks. My third day, however, brought some unexpected excitement--a week's tour of the Innsbruck Hospital brought about by an appendectomy.

Soon after my recovery, my sister and I spent three weeks sightseeing. In St. Polten, we saw the old, stately castles and I got my first glimpse of the Blue Danube. Vienna, and its magic charm cast a hypnotic spell on me. In Graz, I saw many lovely fountains, the open markets, and the famous clock tower.

Spittal, a summer resort, a trip to Italy, and before I realized it, we were at our last village, Saalfelden. Later, we toured a part of Germany, and Salzburg, Austria.

As the screaming Swiss air jet left the Zurich Airport, my thoughts were with my departed family and the good times of the past summer, but my thoughts of the family to meet me and the sight of United States soil again brought tears of happiness to my eyes.



My home in Silz.

Fight, Panthers, Fight!

"Win, Panthers, Win!" cry the eleven spirited cheerleaders of the 1965-1966 Central High School Cheerleading Squad. Donned in their newly purchased orange and black skirts and sweaters or vests, they quickly add a peppy spark to each athletic event in which they participated. Although their season is the longest, the cheerleaders never appear to tire, for they always urge the Central High fans to cheer and support our victorious athletic teams.

FOOTBALL 1965

Central was blessed with fifteen returning lettermen, seven of them starters from the previous season, in building a squad which won eight games, lost one, and tied one to compile one of the best football records the school has ever enjoyed. Although this eclipsed the record with which Central won the York County Championship two years ago, the 1965 Panthers were forced to be content with a second place position in the YCIAA. Even then it took the best team in the state Red Lion to humble the Panthers.

Led by all-conference linemen Brad Livingston and Duke Cramer and guided by junior quarterback Mike Gingerich, the team clearly showed their strength when in their last game they became the first York County team ever to defeat Hanover at their home field. This win provided Central with its sixth consecutive victory, one of which was an impressive shut out over York Suburban, the first time this proud team had been blanked since Central had previously done it.

Although practically the entire starting team was composed of seniors, head coach Joe Stauffer has a good nucleus returning for next year's campaign. Because of the impressive scores turned by the starting eleven, the underclassmen were able to receive much needed experience. If Mr. Joe Stauffer and his assistants Mr. Ronald Heindel and Mr. Earl Walbert do as excellent a job as they did this year, success is assured.

As fall began, our Sophomore, Junior, and Senior girls charged onto the field with hockey sticks in hand for exciting games.

The girls organized into teams for interscholastic competition. They practiced two afternoons a week during the months of October and November. Along with the development of their hockey skills, they also developed the quality of good sportsmanship.

Also out on the field was their loyal advisor, Mrs. Kottmeyer, who helped to broaden their knowledge of hockey.

We congratulate these girls for their fine efforts put forth to make hockey a more enjoyable sport.

1964 saw a dream become a reality, and 1965 has seen this dream carried on to even greater heights. Paced by senior Kevin Frey and juniors Jeff Adams and Bob McElwain, the Harriers won their first seven meets before bowing to West York. This was the only loss and the final standings revealed Central as league champions with a 9-1 seasonal record.

In the annual conference run, four boys won medals, and Central also captured team honors. Although no boys qualified for the state meet, the team ran exceptionally well at the district meet, placing 5th in a field of 26 teams.

The entire team is to be congratulated, and especially Mr. Myers. Coach Myers has put much work into molding two championship teams the past two years, and with several boys returning he should have a fine team next year.

Varsity Basketball 1966

Led into battle last November by Coach Earl Walbert the fighting Panthers of Central High started fast by winning their first two games and going on to compile an excellant record of 15 wins and 4 losses while competing in the tough Western Division.

The team was composed of six seniors, three juniors, and one sophomore and was led by the hot hands of Central's big three- Adam Barnhart, Duke Cramer, and Dan Idema. The two other starting cagers were Brian "Sparky" Miller and Byron Almoney.

Although the team did not win any league honors, the Panthers did not let their fans down because they always played a hustling game of basketball. The ball handling of little Brian Miller plus the high scoring of all the players on the team kept the fans on the edge of their seats throughout the game.

All in all, it was a very good year for the Panthers of Central High.

Under the experienced eye of Coach Donald Poet, Central's J.V. team has again had a successful season this year. Starting out with a string of early season victories, the Panthers had many exciting games and turned in a very respectable record.

The squad was sparked by the scoring and rebounding of Cliff Billet, Greg Stephenson, and Kurt Richter.

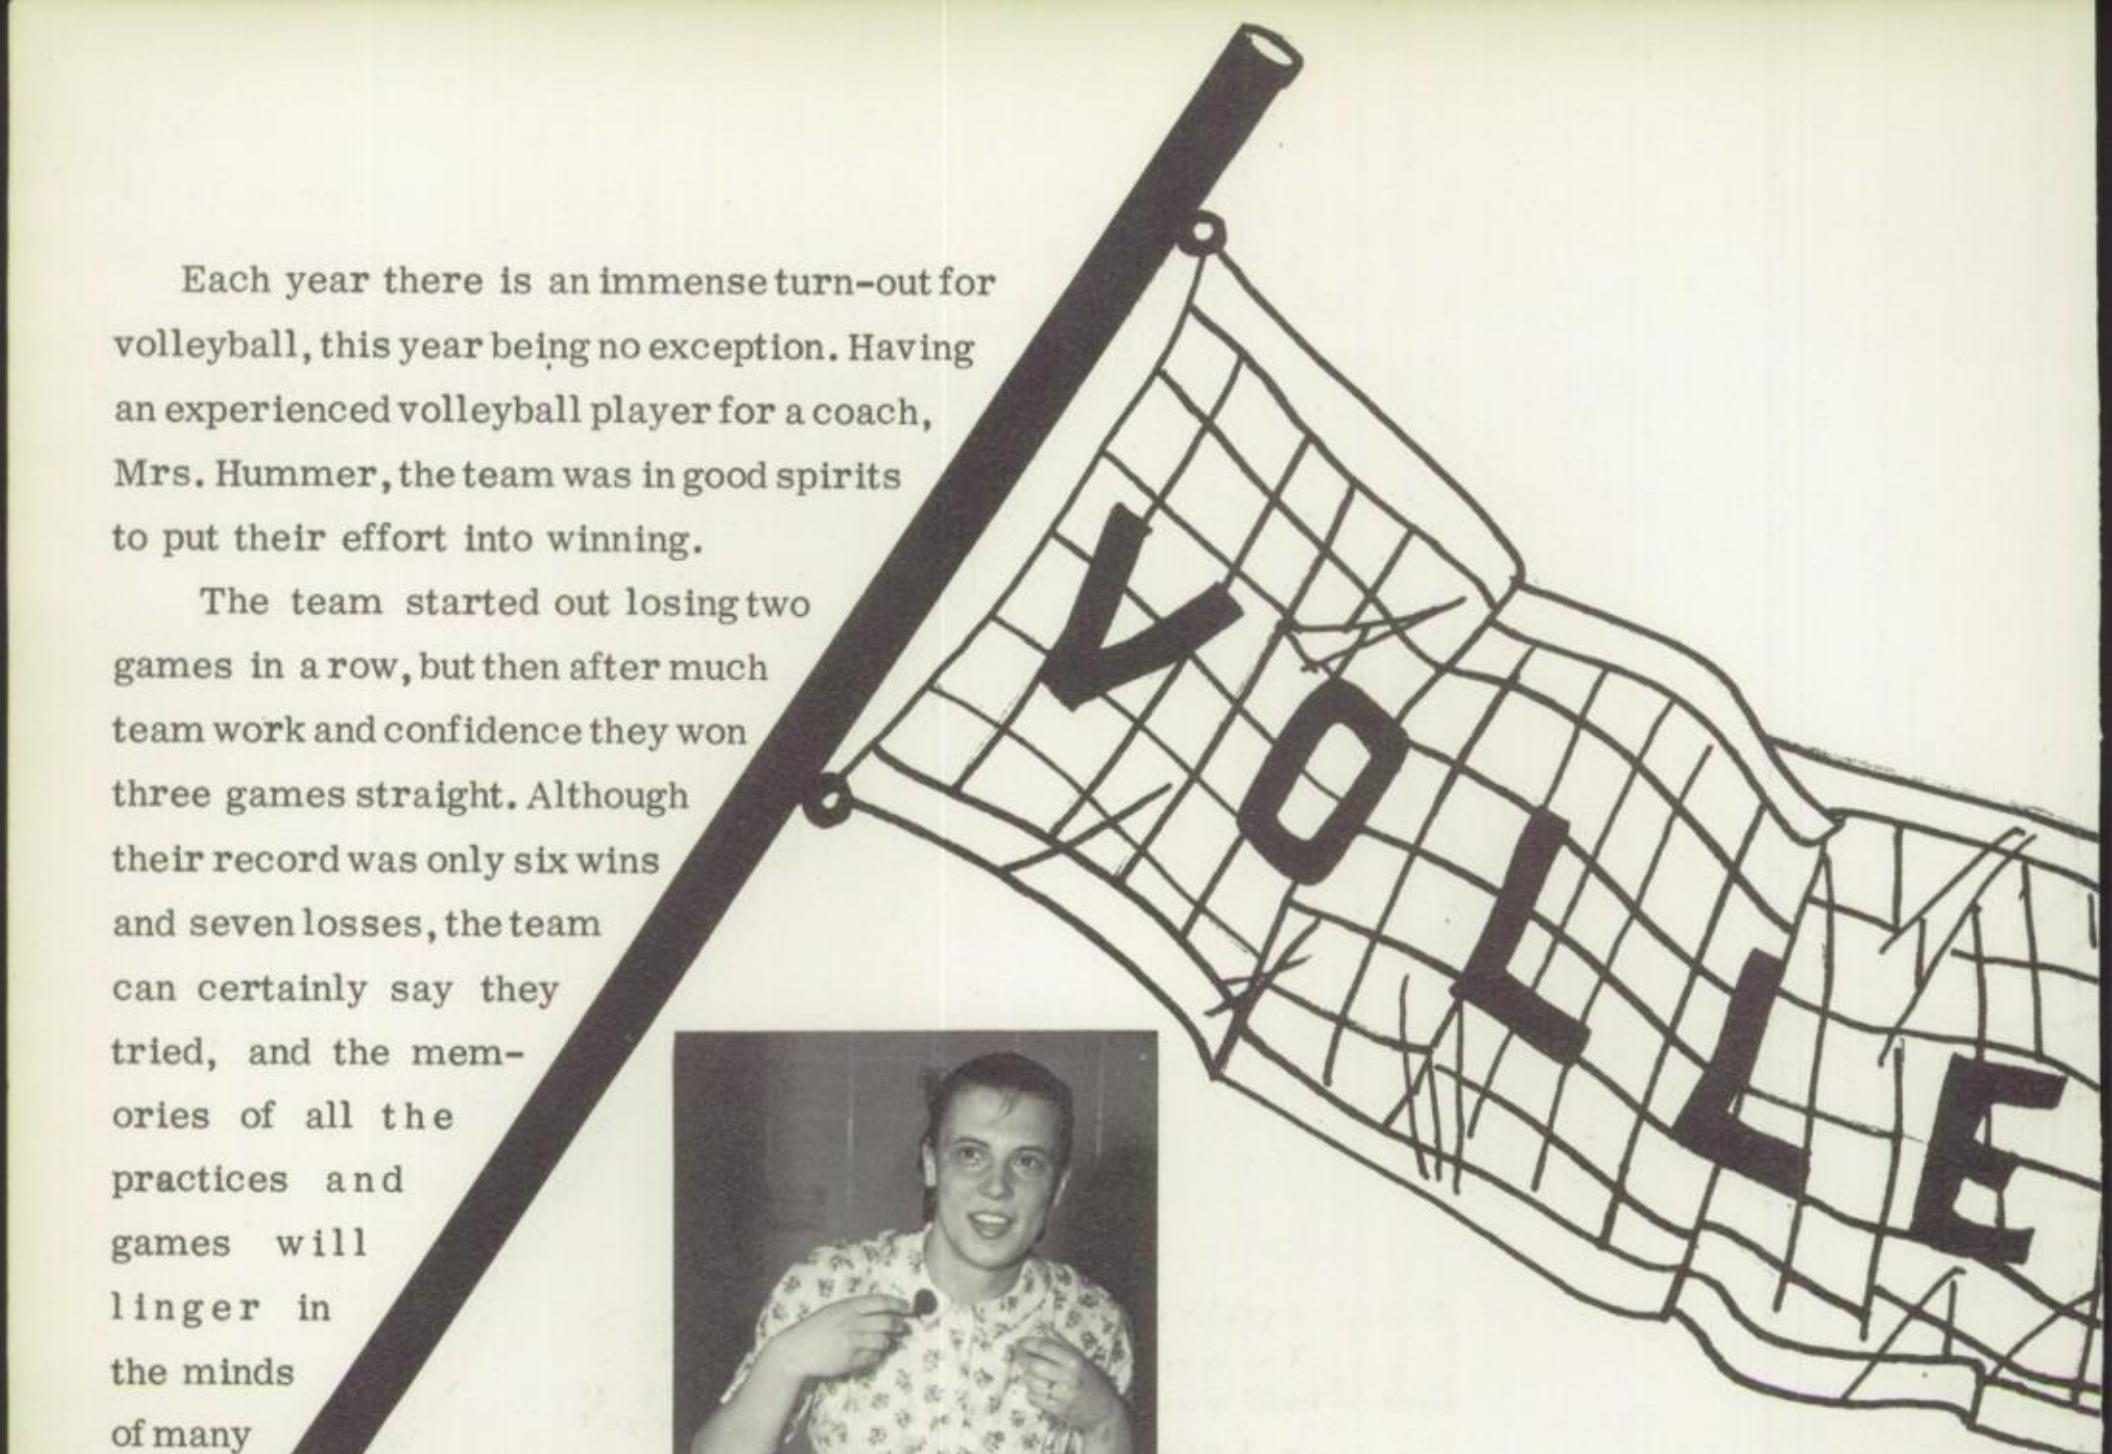
It's easy when you're on top.



Each year there is an immense turn-out for volleyball, this year being no exception. Having an experienced volleyball player for a coach, Mrs. Hummer, the team was in good spirits to put their effort into winning.

The team started out losing two games in a row, but then after much team work and confidence they won three games straight. Although their record was only six wins and seven losses, the team can certainly say they tried, and the memories of all the practices and games will linger in the minds of many

TRACK

Under the direction of veteran coach Robert Myers and his assistant, Kenneth Sweger, the 1965 track team registered its second consecutive winning season. From the snow swept plains of the athletic field to the fog shrouded banks of Codorus Creek, the team worked many long hours to achieve a successful season. Paced by senior Lee Latchaw and aided by a host of talented underclassmen, the cindermen compiled a record of 3 wins and 2 losses in league competition to gain a second place tie in the Western Division. Two exhibition contests showed 1 win and 1 loss to give the team an overall record of 4 wins and 3 losses.

BASEBALL '65

Despite losses in their first two league games, the 1965 Panther baseball team came through and won the Western Division Championship with a record of 10 wins and 2 losses. The secret of the team's success seemed to be that Coach Ron Beckmeyer was able to get the most from his boys in the big games, for the Panthers defeated the defending champion, Northeastern, twice.

The season had begun for the team in March with drills on fundamentals, and after many grueling practice sessions, the boys began their tough 12 game schedule. Unfortunately, all their hard work ultimately led to a sad end. After having forged ahead by one win in the battle with Red Lion, the Panthers saw their lead vanish before the powerful Lions and, at the same time, saw the long sought York County championship slip from their grasp.

Central can be expecially proud of the team's fine spirit and their continuous display of sportsmanship. We are sure that with the many returning lettermen the Panthers will again challenge for the coveted championship and hopefully will bring another title to C. H. S.

Coach Beckmeyer

That's it. Grit your teeth and swing.

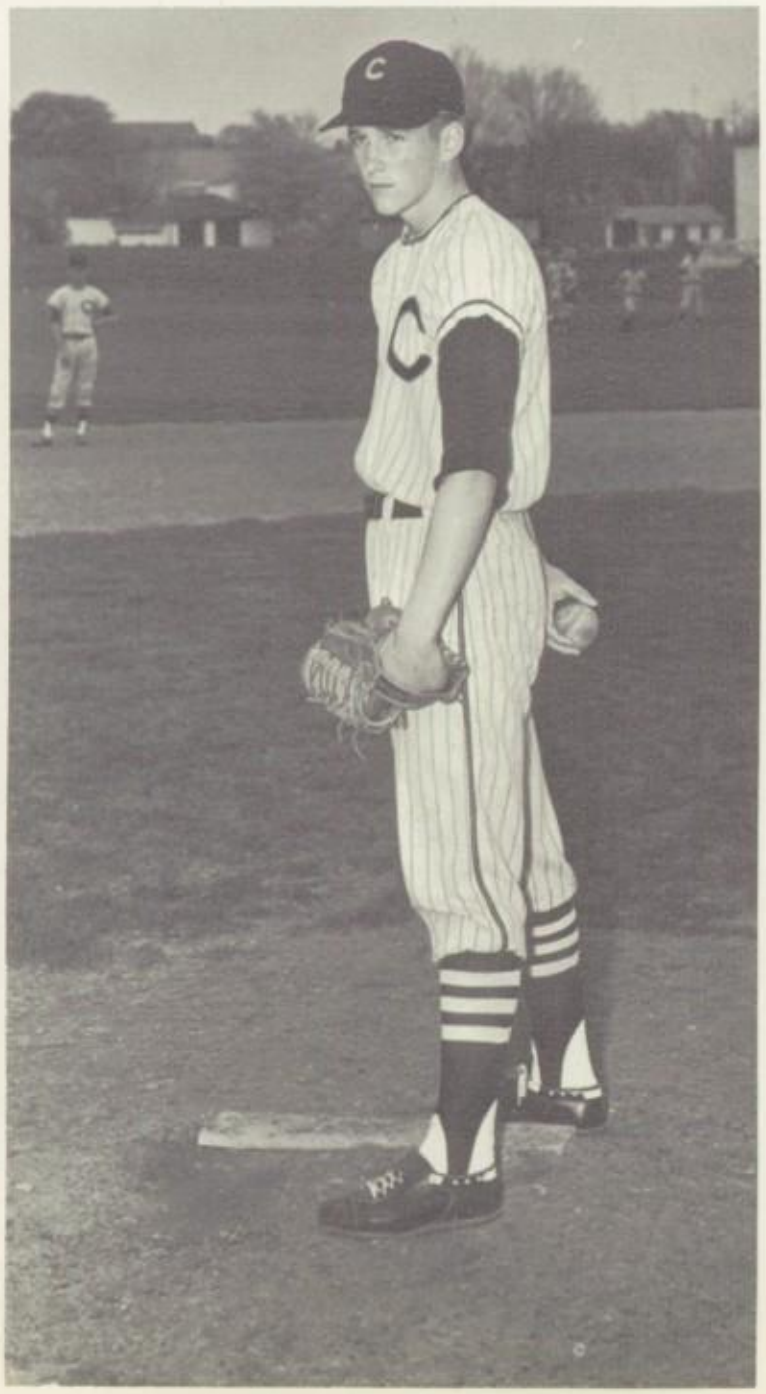
"Now, how am I gonna do this?"



Gary scoops up a grounder.

As the snow of winter began to melt and the rain of spring was falling, ten sodden young men could be seen on the links of the Out Door Country Club preparing for another winning season. Gale winds and monsoon rains plagued the team the entire season, and after several postponements, the ten scheduled matches were finally completed. The linksmen scored six triumphs against four setbacks, and earned fifth place in a strong York County League.

Each match consists of five individual matches of four points, a perfect score being twenty points. Mr. Poet, although losing the two high scorers from 1965, will have the nucleus of another fine team with two regulars, Jim McCarthy, senior, and Russ Hitchings, junior, and several other underclassmen returning from last year.

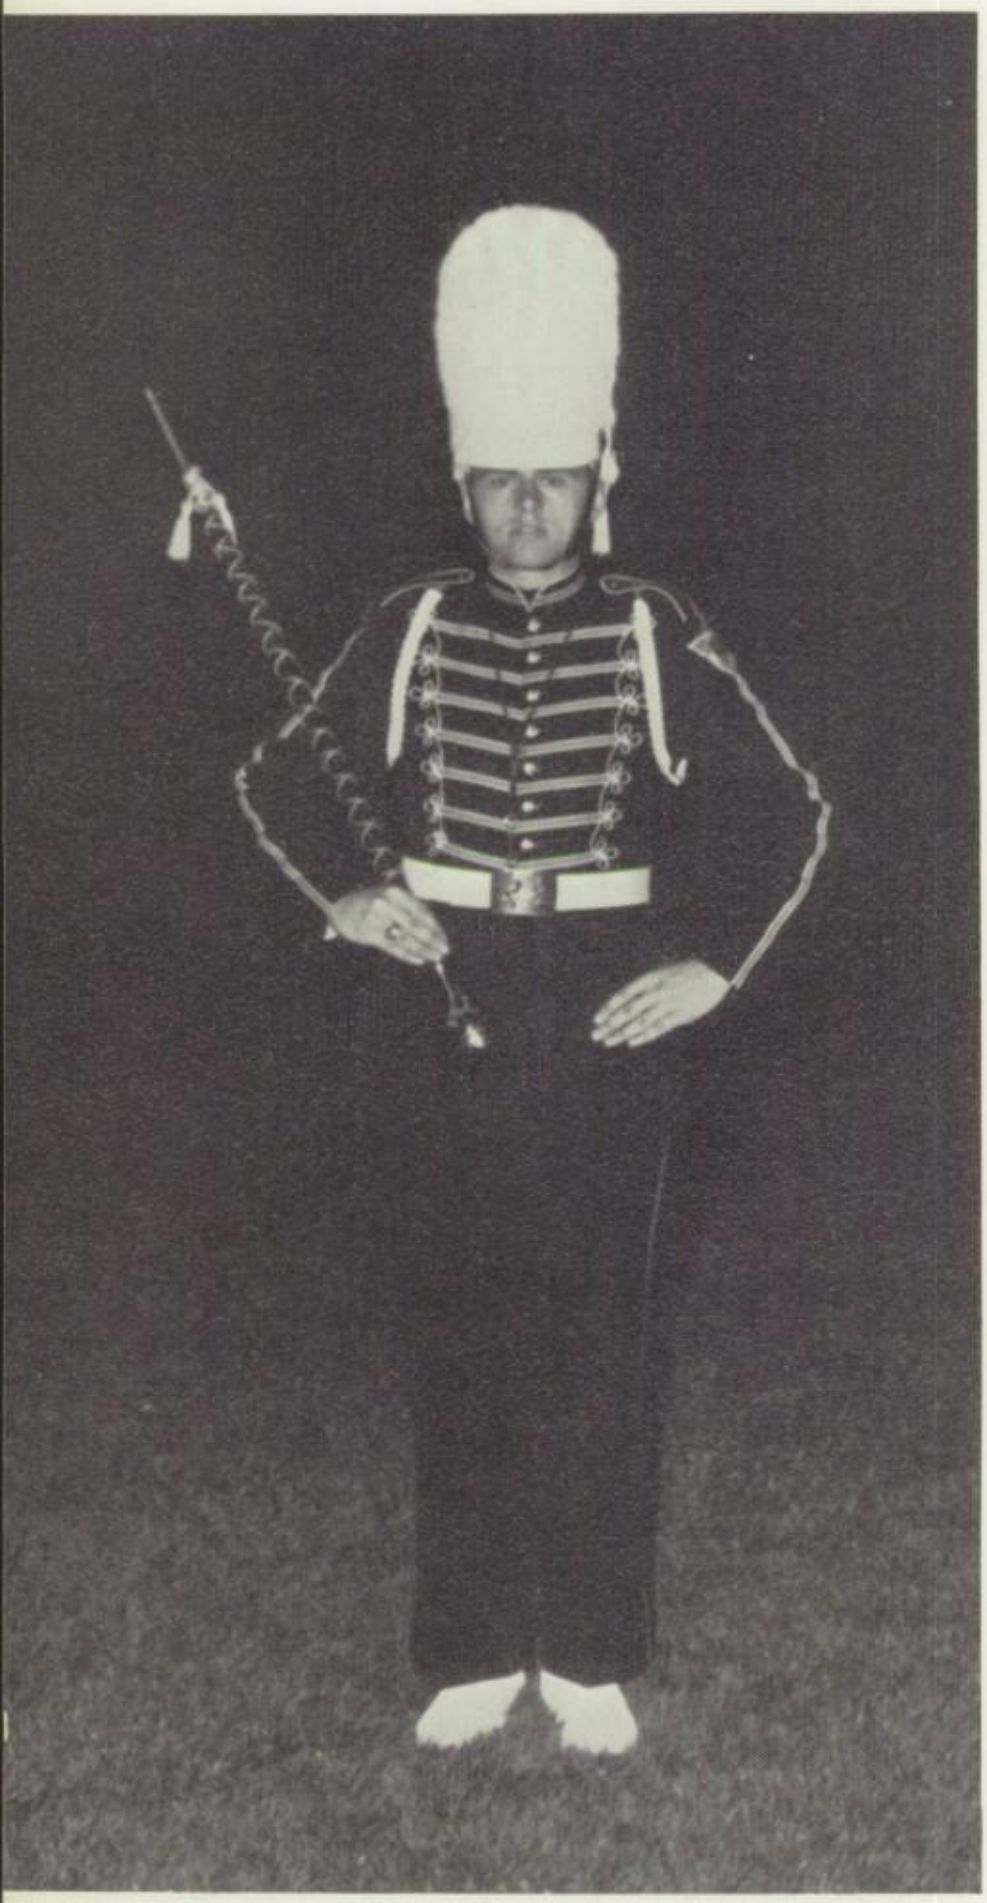
1965 MARCHING BAND



Drum Major

Donald Sprenkle

Led by drum major, Donald Sprenkle, the 1965 marching band highlighted half-time shows during the football season. Spirited strains of "The Longest Day" and a snappy drum cadence filled the autumn air as veteran musicians marched across the field in various formations.

Along with half-time entertainment, the band provided energetic encouragement from the side lines, swinging into action with every touchdown and time out and leading post-game victory marches.

The 1965 marching band, under the capable direction of Mr. McFarland, also participates in concerts, local parades, assemblies, and pep rallies. Central salutes this hard-working organization for a job well done.

Color Guard Captain, Miss Nancy Kinports.

COLOR GUARD

The advent of football season signals the beginning of concentrated practice for not only the football team, cheerleaders, and band, but also for the color guard. Color guard members weather cold, misty mornings and long hours after school in determined preparation for each week's performance. The nine highstepping girls contribute a display of precision in half-time shows and further serve as snappy pace-setters for numerous local parades throughout the year.

During the post-football seasons, the color guard focuses its attention on indoor activities, including appearances in assemblies, at pep rallies, and various concert exchange programs. Central is indeed proud to acknowledge this spirited group of performers and its talented contribution to school life.

MAJORETTES

Flashing silver batons...swishing tassels...and radiant smiles. In addition to our marching band, there were always eight vivacious majorettes strutting across the football field. After many hours of fervent practice, the girls displayed their twirling and marching skills in assemblies, local parades, concerts, and elementary band tours. These girls, under the capable direction of head majorette Linda Smith, have made a sparkling contribution to the band's presentations.

On any Tuesday or Friday morning, one can hear the sound of the Concert Band coming from the band room as they practice. This group had an active year. They gave their annual Spring Concert with the York Chorus, and they provided the musical background for the production of Bye Bye Birdie. In addition to these activities, they participated in the annual District Concert.

To this group goes our congratulations, for they are a fine talented group and along with their director, Mr. Robert MacFarland, they spent many long hours practicing.

THE JIG IS UP

The Senior High Chorus of Central High School presented "The Jig is Up" on May 13 and 15, 1965. It was directed by Mr. A. E. Warfield, assisted by Miss Mary Fetrow.

The Senior Director was Sandra Winter, and the Junior Director was Nancy Hunger. Dawn Frantz and Catherine King acted as stage managers.

The cast included the following:

Bradley Livingston . . . . . King Connor
David Lehman . . Dermot O'Nolan McFigg
David Gouker . . . . . Rory O'More
Sharon Rottcher . . . . . Kathleen Kelly
Mike Spyker . . . . . Denny Mullane
Marianne Rohrbaugh . . . Molly O'More
Karen Fredenburg . . . Peggeen O'More
Carol Mooseberger . . . Mary O'More
Julia Miller . . . . . Widow O'More
Glenn Miley Jr. . . . DeLacy-Wolfe Tone
Barbara Shermeyer . . . Bridgid Donohoe
Gary Snyder . . . . . Scrubbs
Bonnie Sherwood and Yvonne Raver
. . . . . Accompanists

Mary O'More is up to her usual antics with her family.

Kathleen Kelly joins Bonnie Sherwood, the accompanist, and the Kelly dancers at the piano.

Fogarty, an Irish story teller, chats with King Connor, the King of the Leprechauns, and his Leprechauns.

THE CHIEF SPEAKS

I, as the Editor of the 1966 Panther, have finally survived the deadlines and head-splitting sessions and would like to say a few words in retrospect about this yearbook. By now, everyone realizes that this yearbook is not an index of the students' pictures, but is a journalistic approach to portray Central High School as students would like to remember it in years to come.

We used the Panther's paw prints to guide the reader through our book in the same manner the reader optically relives this year. We tried to emphasize each phase of school life in order to show a complete portrait of the school.

The yearbook is the product of the work of many people: the editors, staffs, student body, faculty, patrons, and last, but not least, the advertisers. I deem necessary a special thank you to Mr. Elwood Fauth, our patient and helpful advisor, Mr. Richard Walters, our principal, Blatners, the yearbook photographer, and Walsworth Publishing Company, our efficient publishers.

And now, I would like to thank my associates, Lucetta Bahn, Cheryl Hafer, and Timothy Roelke, for the excellent work they accomplished, and also the staff for the efficient aid they put forth.

Miss Heggan,
To the greatest French teacher I have had. Good luck in everything you may attempt to do and also keep smiling for everyone knows that is an A+ on the report card.

Miss Heggan,
To the nicest French
teacher at Central..
Never forget the wild 4th period class and the final that you flunked. We just had to get back at you.
May your future years of teaching be as pleasant as mine
was with you.

Une amie toujours,
